A Tale With a Moral.

Once upon a time there lived a beautiful Princess in an elegant castle, sur rounded by a large forest. Her father, the king, was known far and wide for his wisdom, and pilgrimages were daily made to the castle by the people to listen to his words of wisdom. The exceeding rare beauty of the Princess was known even to the remote parts of the kingdom, and as a consequence her hand in marriage was much sought after by the Princes of the realm. Her father, the wise king, was much perplexed as to whom to entrust his daughter's happiness, as the applicants were all worthy and desirable son-in-laws. He finally had it proclaimed throughout the kingdom that the hand of the beautiful Princess, together with a large dower, would be given to the one who best answered the question, "What is the worst thing in the world?"

At the time appointed for the contest a score of young Princes, each brave .7.50 am and 3.25 pm and handsome, had assembled at the castle and were ushered into the royal presence. Lots were drawn as to which one should have the first chance. Lv Paris at .....8.30 am and 5.42 pm Ar at Geo'town 9.04 am and 6.25 pm Ar at Frankfort 11,25 am and 7.20 pm with much favor upon With bookful micro and troubling limbs he much favor upon With bookful micro and troubling limbs he much him with much favor upon. With bashful mien and trembling limbs he made his obeisance to the Princess and then knelt before his sovereign.

"Well, sir," said the wise monarch, "What is your answer to the question? What is the worst thing in the world?" Amid deep silence the young manafter receiving an encouraging look from the Princess, replied

"The Paris Electric Light Plant, oh gracious sire."

And they were married and lived happily ever after.

With mutterings of disappointment over their hard luck, the remainder of the young men immediately withdrew, as they were wise enough to see their chances of winning the Princess were gone.

The king, after placing a crown upon the head of the young man, exclaimed: "Gladly do I give you the hand of my daughter, and in addition do I make thee chief of my wise men. Thy wisdom surpasses all understanding."

An Honest and Impartial Republican.

The retirement of Secertary Hitchcock from the Cabinet is a real loss to his countrymen. He is the only member of the Administration that has accomplished real results in his Department that are worth taiking about. He has not blustered but has pretty effectually cleared out the land thieves and punished them without fear or favor. Republican United States Senators and Congressmen that were mixed up with the land grafters were not shielded but prosecuted with as much vigor as the lesser grafters and as this is the first time ir. the history of the Republican party of a Cabinet ocer being impervious to party pressure and impartial in punishing and preventing fraud, Ethan Hitchcock is entitled to the thanks of Democrats, the more so, as so many of his party are secretly denouncing and backbiting him. It is too bad that similar good deeds cannot be recorded of any other member of the official family of President Roosevelt.

The Republican party through Secretary Bonaparte has at last invented a reform that no other party has prior claim to and that no other party will probably care to claim. This Bonaparte invention may be styled "the legal boss," for the fantastic idea is, "that the people should have legally constituted bosses to make all the nominations for public offices and thus do away entirely with nominating conventions." No one but a Republican boss, or would be boss, could invent such a scheme of licensing the boss system. Democrats are intent on self-government and are determined that the people must govern the bosses ville, Ky,
J. C. Beam, Jr., A. G. P. A., at St. to dwell the lingering hereditary hope, desecended from Hamilton, that the and not the bosses the people. But in the Republican breast there ever seems few, or for that matter the one, shall rule and dictate to many. If the voters are capable of electing a boss, they are certainly capable of nominating and electing their public officials, otherwise universal sufferage is afailure and like he Hebrews of old, a King is the only natural boss that the people will elect.

near future, for the people are awakening to the fact that their only salvation is to abolish losses, with the certain corruption and grafting that stalk in their train as Republicanism means the rule of bosses as Democracy means the rule of the people, the Republican leaders would legalize the political machine they have set up, in hopes of preventing the break down they see is approaching.

Merely Idle Talk.

The Republicans are now beginning to figure on who they can sacrifice as a candidate for their party for Governor next year. A lot of talk from them can be seen in another column of this issue. Judge Harlan, of the Supreme Court bench, will probably be asked to resign from his present high position to make the race. Democrats are notat all worried about who they will place upon the altar, Judge Harlan or any of the big guns, for when the Democratic nominee, Judge Hager, gets through with them they will be little guns. It would be a pity to have Judge Harlan to end his successful political life by a crushing defeat in his native State. The defeat is surely waiting for the big Judge if he allows himself to be talked into running for Governor on the Republican ticket in Kentucky. It is only idle talk about them even having a shadow of a chance to win next year.

The Pure Food Law.

The Republicans claim the credit for the Pure Food Law, but the Reupblican Congress made no appropriation for carrying the law into effect. The majority of the Republican members of Congress have little sympathy with the law and tried before they passed it to weaken it at every point. When it comes to voting the appropriation of $1,000,000 which Secretary Wilson says is necessary to carry out the provisions of the law, we shall see how much influence has been exerted by such opponents as the patent medicine people and other interests that are interfered with. The law goes into effect on January 1st, but until provision is made for its enforcement, it will be virtually a dead letter.

Easy Times in Wisconsin.

When Knighthood Was In Flower."

The above play at the Grand tonight should be greeted by a packed house. The writer is in a position to know that it is a splendid company, carrying a full compliment of scenery, mechanical and electrical effects. The play was last seen here five years ago, when Miss Effie Ellsler played the part of "Mary Tudor," the Princess of England. Miss Anna Day, who 'assumes the role tonight, is said by those who have seen her to be, if anything, superior to Miss Ellsler in the part. She has the advantage of being several years younger, and has beauty, grace and charming stage appearance. conception of the part of the strong willed Princess captures her audience from the start, and notwithstanding it is a five-act play, the audience does not tile. ### Trust to Nature.

A great many Americans, both men and women, are thin, pale and puny, with poor circulation, because they have ill-treated their stomachs by hasty eating treated their stomachs by hasty eating or too much eating, by consuming alcoholic beverages, or by too close confinement to home, office or factory, and in consequence the stomach must be treated in a natural way before they can rectify their earlier mistakes. The muscles in many such people, in fact in every weary, thin and thin-blooded person, do their work with great difficulty. As a result fatigue comes early, is extreme and lasts long. The demand for nutritive aid is ahead of the supply. To insure perfect health every tissue, bone, nerve and muscle should take from the blood certain materials and return to it certain muscle should take from the blood certain materials and return to it certain others. It is necessary to prepare the stomach for the work of taking up from the food what is necessary to make good, rich, red blood. We must go to Nature for the remedy. There were certain roots known to the Indians of this country before the advent of the whites which before the advent of the whites country before the advent of the whites which later came to the knowledge of the settlers and which are now growing rapidly in professional favor for the cure of obstinate stomach and liver troubles. These are found to be safe and yet certain in their cleansing and invigorating effect upon the stomach, liver and blood. These are: Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Bloodroot, Mandrake root. Then there is Black Cherrybark. The medic nal principles residing in these native roots when extracted with glycerine as a solvent make the most reliable and efficient stomach tonic and liver invigorator, when combined in just the and efficient stomach tonic and liver invigorator, when combined in just the right proportions, as in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Where there is bankrupt vitality—such as nervous exhaustion, bad nutrition—and thin blood, the body acquires vigor and the nerves, blood and all the tissues feel the favorable effect of this sovereign remedy. Although some physicians have been aware of the high medicinal value of the aware of the high medicinal value of the above mentioned plants, yet few have used pure glycerine as a solvent and usually the doctors' prescriptions called for the ingredients in varying amounts, with alcohol.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is a scientific preparation compounded of the glyceric extracts of the above mentioned vegetable ingredients and contains ne alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs

WAYS OF THE TOAD.

Some of the Oddities of This Peculiar

It is remarkable that the toad, loving water as it does, should wander away from watery regions to dry ground, where it can never see a drop of water except at rain time and leave its water rights to the undisputed possession of its ranal neighbor the frog. How the toad loves water must be known to every garden lover. Whenever there is a shower the creature WASHINGTON, November 24.—Is leaves its cool retreat under the piazza

At the Grand Tonight.

The play "When Knighthood Was in Flower," affords great opportunity for lavishness in scenery settings, properties and costumes, and every advan-tage of the many openings along this line has been taken by Ernest Shipman, by whom the play is being produced this season, with the result that it is one of the most gorgeously equipped in the country. From the standpoint of scenic investigation alone it is well worth seeing, but when the company producing it here is taken into consideration and thought over, he who misses an opportunity of seeing it must needs have very urgent business.

POWER OF PERFUMES.

The Way Various Scents Act on the Nerves and Brain.

Nearly all perfumes have antiseptic qualities and are valuable in keeping away infection.

The perfumes which are the most agreeable to the sense are not always the most helpful to the nerves. Ambergris, for instance, is positively offensive to many, yet it is said to possess a wonderful power of clearing the brain and driving away the blues. On the other hand, attar of roses, with the suggestion of glowing suns and gorgeous eastern colors, predisposes to

A faint odor of musk acts as a tonic, for which the best antidote is the odor of sandalwood. The fragrance of citron is as soothing to nervous folk as the sound of faroff music.

The scent of orange flowers is so depressing to the action of the heart that it is not safe for any one with disease of that organ to inhale it for any length of time. Reviving perfumes come from herbaceous plants largely, from the odors of mignonette, rosemary and lavender, and soothe the nerves.

The perfumes of lilies, jasmine and acacia are pleasant and soothing to a healthy sense, though delicate nerves cannot enjoy them even in their garden freshness. Brought closer in clusters of blossom, their odor is narcotic and depressing, so that persons grow faint at the smell of them and may be put into heavy slumber, as if drugged by their odor.-London Express.

SIMPLE MEDICINES.

Remedies That May Be Found In Nature's Drug Stores.

If chemists and druggists disappeared from the face of the earth humanity could still worry along with the simple remedies which nature yields, practically ready made. There is nothing to beat rhubarb juice as a cure for gout or rheumatism except water from medicinal springs. All kinds of scurvy and blood poisoning yield to the juice of lemons or of limes, which are the greatest blood purifiers in existence. Even doctors acknowledge that natural, fresh cream from cows' milk can give points to cod liver oil and similar nasty liquids in treating consumption. Common mustard used as a plaster or poultice is the best cure for a cold on the chest, and the white of an egg with sugar is the finest medicine for hearseness. To cure a burn an application of the white skin that lines the shell of which the juice or leaves afford remedies or palliatives for almost every disease to which humanity is heir.-New York Mail.

Luminous Centipeds.

Lizard, snake and natural electric light plant all rolled into one-this is the luminous centiped, one of the most interesting creatures in nature. It is about one and a quarter inches long and covered with short hairs. Its body is very narrow and appears to be in sections. In consequence of this peculiar formation the creature appears to Then the natural electric light plant feature appears, and, with an almost instantaneous wavelike motion, beginning at the tail, the color of the reptile changes from orange to a greenish phosphorescent shade. Then, sparkling with a tiny streak of green light, the creature darts away to a place of refuge. When one of the pair is in search of its mate, the color grows a bright yellow, but at will the centiped can resume its darker color, and then, if lying close to the grain of a piece of wood, is hardly noticeable.

The Word "Canteen."

strange etymological history is that possessed by the word "canteen" -which has caused so much talk in temperance and army circles-if its origin is correctly assigned to the old Latin "quintana," which literally means "of the fifth rank" or "fifth in order." The "quintana (via)" was a street in the Roman camp so called because it came between the fifth maniple, or company, and the sixth. Here all the business and marketing of the camp were done, and "quintana" eventually came to mean a market. - Chicago

Simplified.

It is said of a noted Virginia judge that in a pinch he always came out ahead. An incident of his childhood might go to prove this. "Well, Benny," said his father when the lad had been going to school about a month, "what did you learn today?" "About the mouse, father."

"Spell mouse." After a little pause Benny answered:

"Father, I don't believe it was a mouse after all. It was a rat."-Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Sydney Smith's Sharp Tongue.

Sydney Smith was at a party out evening when, seeing Mrs. Grote, wife of the historian, enter, wearing a rose colored turban, he suddenly exclaimed, "I now know the meaning of the word grotesque!" He professed his cordial liking for both her and her husband, saying: "I like them. I like him, he is so ladylike, and I like her, she's such a perfect gentleman."

English Art.

Foreigners appear to have great difficulty in acquiring representative examples of the English school of painting and with good reason. Our art is more fruitful in attractive hybrids than the art of any other country in the world.-Burlington Magazine.

A man is never mediocre when he has much good sense and much good feeling .- Joubert,
